The House of Romanoff.

The Romanoffs rather pride themselves on the antiquity of their family tree, claiming that it is known to have been planted by a Lithuanian prince in the fourth century.

It is certain, however, that the family did not make their appearance in Russia until the fourteenth century. In the year 1341, Andrew Kobyla emigrated from Prussia to Moscow, and entered the service of the Grand Duke Simon the Pious.

The descendants of Kobyla held high positions, and the fifth in direct descent from him was Roman Jurevich, who died in 1543, leaving a son, Nikita Romanovitch Juriev, who by his marriage with the Princess of Soudal (a direct descendant from a brother of St. Alexander Nevski), who was allied to the royal race of Rurik, and a daughter who became Czarina by her marriage with Ivan the Terrible, Nikita was one of the regency during the minority of Feodor I., and his eldest son, Feodor, under the name of Philarète, was elevated to the rank of Archbishop and Metropolitan during the reign of the false Dimitri. The Romanoffs supported the party that tendered the Russian crown to the Polish prince, and Philarète had gone with that view to Poland, when the opposition became so violent as to change entirely the state of affairs, and the Poles imprisoned Philarète. The national party then proceeded to the election of a native sovereign, who should be as closely allied as possible to the race of Rurik, and after much hesitation and many negotiations, they selected Michael Feodorovitch Romanoff, the son of Philarète, and the representative, through his grandmother, of the royal house of Rurik. The following is a list of the Czar and Emperors of Russia from that time to the present. Czar Peter I. was the first ruler who adopted, in the year 1721, the title of Emperor.

A Revolution.

Mr. Charles F. Armstrong, a Chicago commercial traveler, was in Pana yesterday, and while there he was let into the secret of the general kick against the Reds and Umpire Carter. It appears from the statements of the Pana Browns and their friends made to Mr. Armstrong, that the two professionals from St. Louis, who did the pitching and catching for the Browns on the 10th, had assured the Browns that if they were hired to play the Decatur Reds would not get a single run in the game. But the score shows that the Reds got two runs in the second inning, whereupon the Pana pirates—neither so far as it proceeded, will remember that two of the Pana rowdies—went of them a member of the centre of the diamond, boldly in the game in progress—a proceeding positively forbidden by the rules of the game. But the score shows that the Reds got two runs in the second inning, whereupon the Pana pirates—neither so far as it proceeded, will remember that two of the Pana rowdies—went of them a member of the centre of the diamond, boldly in the game in progress—a proceeding positively forbidden by the rules of the game.

Chinching Evidence.

It is stated that the excitement at Taylorville over the Bond affair, which was abating somewhat, has been considerably renewed in the last few days, on account of some developments tending to show that the men now in jail are the guilty parties. It is understood that these detectives are at work on the case, but who they are is not known, and we understand a great deal has been unearthed that will not be given to the public until the examination. The detectives are at work not only collecting evidence against the men now in jail, but are also following up some other clues, but the general opinion strengthened by the latest developments, the paper which they claim to have been reading on that afternoon under the tree, has been found in the school house, also a piece of an envelope, the corner of which was found on the person of one of the prisoners. The 22d will be one of intense excitement at Taylorville, as the country people of Christian county will turn out en masse. Montgomery appeared in Taylorville last Saturday and renewed his bond until the 23d.

Graduation of Miss Lillian Brandon. The graduation exercises of Professor Poishan's School of Elocution and Oratory was held in the Baptist church at Springfield, Ill., Wednesday evening, in the presence of a great multitude of people. The graduating class included 13 pupils, among whom were Miss Lillian Brandon, the gifted and accomplished daughter of Dr. M. Brandon, of this city. The programme observed embraced a variety of difficult selections that were rendered in a manner that indicated clearly that the Professor, who is connected with the Illinois Industrial University at Champaign, has devoted himself faithfully and successfully to training this class. The Springfield Monitor says: "The rendition of Little Hero, by Miss Lillian Brandon, of Decatur, was, to say the least, most excellent. She displayed a most wonderful control of her voice in the varied changes from the harsh, rough tones of rugged seamen, to the soft, piteous accents of a little orphan, and well did she merit the emphatic applause with which she was greeted." This school of oratory has graduated several successful dramatic readers, among whom are Miss Alma Morgan, and others. Miss Brandon possesses dramatic power to a remarkable degree in one so young, and she will in a short time secure a place among the dramatic readers of the day second to none in the west.

The Pinkerton Reception. The audience room of the Christian Church was brilliantly illuminated last night, it being the occasion of the public social and reception given by the congregation in honor of the new pastor, Elder Pinkerton and his family, who were present to greet and shake hands with all who were present. The reception was attended by several hundred people, who clattered together pleasantly, and listened to the vocal music as rendered by the church choir and congregation. Elder Pinkerton, as has already been stated in these columns lately, came to Decatur from Falls City, Nebraska, and has entered upon his pastoral labors here under what appear to be the most auspicious circumstances. He is a fine preacher, has a pleasing delivery, and his command of language and logic are good. He is a genial, social gentleman, and will devote his whole attention to the interests of his flock who have engaged his services for one year.

"Our Great Musical Company" will hold forth at the opera house to-morrow night in an olio of fun and music. The troupe includes Fred Jones, M. Holland, Master Don Stanley, R. M. Jennings, Prof. Abbott, Gus Harby and Will Millsbaugh, the jugglers, and Fannie. The entertainment will conclude with Jones and Holland's great farce, "You Don't Say So" in fine paralyzing act and seven shipping scenes.

Lost Boy. Michael Kane, aged 12 years, left his home in Decatur on Wednesday of this week, and has not been heard from since. It is supposed that he has gone off on some one of the railroads. Any information as to his whereabouts will be thankfully received by his parents.

ROGER KANE.

Decatur at Clear Lake. CLEAR LAKE, IOWA, JULY 12. ERS. REVEREND: We arrived here on the day following our departure and were very fortunate in obtaining four excellent rooms and good accommodations. Two large trunks of excursionists arrived here yesterday and the town was well filled before we came. They are having splendid meetings. McCabe, the noted singer, and Harrison, the boy preacher, are the leading attractions; besides many other noted preachers from almost every state. A very enjoyable and profitable meeting is anticipated; weather is cool and pleasant; fishing is said to be good in the lake this season. We, like good people should do, are attending camp meeting and have not fished my yet, but expect to to-morrow, when we will give you a report of our success. We expected to find a fine crop in Iowa but were disappointed. Some of the discouraged farmers of Mason county should pass through Iowa and examine the crops if they want to go home satisfied. The best corn we found in the state is not over knee high and three-fourths of the crop not that good and very weedy; they cannot expect more than half a crop. Wheat is good; also an excellent crop of potatoes. We saw but two crops of corn on the road, notwithstanding the poor prospects this year. Land has advanced in price since last year from 25 to 50 per cent; all who anticipate buying western land would do well to look after it soon. I see by a paper today that a syndicate has been formed to buy all the Minnesota railroad lands. When this is done of course the price will be raised. Our party are well and in good spirits and expecting a good time. About all we lack now to make our happiness complete is the Republican, which we expect to receive every day. If any of our friends desire a cool and pleasant summer resort, we think this is the place and would be pleased to see them.

FRANK L. WOOD.
